About The Mastercard Foundation

Scholars Program:

The Mastercard Foundation believes that all young people, no matter their starting point in life, should have an equal chance to obtain a quality education and pursue their aspirations. The Scholars Program seeks to make this a reality for bright, young people with a demonstrated commitment to giving back to their communities. Through a network of universities and non-governmental organizations, the Scholars Program ensures that high potential students, especially those from marginalized communities including young women, refugees and internally displaced persons, and those living with disabilities are equipped with the knowledge and skills they need to become the next generation of transformative African leaders.

The Mastercard Foundation Scholars Program at USIU-Africa will provide fully funded scholarships to young Africans who are first-time undergraduate degree-seeking applicants. Upon completion of their studies, Scholars will be required to lead changes in their communities and contribute to meaningful transformation across the continent, having been equipped with internationally recognized and locally applicable qualifications.

Eligibility:

1. Only Youth under the age of 29 years old in the following categories qualify:

- Young women and men.
- Refugees and displaced youth;
- Youth with disabilities.

2. Scholars must demonstrate the following qualities:

- Academic talent They must value learning and have a personal motivation to complete their education. Must meet the university admissions requirement as per the Kenya Commission for University Education or its equivalent.
- Commitment to giving back Applicants should demonstrate a commitment to improving their communities through previous and/or past engagements with community outreach activities.

- Leadership potential Scholars must show commitment to becoming change makers, role models and mentors who embrace ethical leadership.

3. Must be interested in, and meet USIU admissions criteria and academic qualifications to undertake, any of the approved 11 undergraduate degree programs for the Scholars Program at USIU-Africa as follows:

- School of Science and Technology (SST) – Bachelor of Science in Applied Computer Technology, Bachelor of Science in Information Systems and Technology;
